Three Warehouse Management Reports Place Manhattan WMS as Solution Leader

ORLANDO — May 20, 2008— Global supply chain optimization provider Manhattan Associates, Inc. (NASDAQ: MANH) today announced that its Distribution Management solutions had achieved leadership status in three of the most important and influential industry analyst reports on warehouse management systems (WMS) published in 2008. The announcement was made at Momentum 2008 in Orlando, Fla., a meeting of more than 1,000 supply chain leaders from the most innovative and successful brands in business today.

"Manhattan Associates is proud to see our WMS expertise has been evaluated— and we think recognized— by Gartner, Forrester and ARC," said Eddie Capel, executive vice president for product management and customer support, Manhattan Associates. "We believe our placement in these reports confirms our team success in solving the complex supply chain issues that other solutions cannot."

Manhattan Associates addressed each WMS market research report with its Distribution Management solution suite, part of Manhattan SCOPE™: Supply Chain Optimization — Planning through Execution. Manhattan SCOPE offers a truly holistic supply chain approach—from beginning to end—to give customers greater control of their network so they can confidently make the right decisions based on costs, service needs, locations and carrier commitments.

Gartner "Magic Quadrant" for Warehouse Management Systems, 2007

Manhattan Associates was positioned in the Leaders Quadrant in Gartner, Inc.'s 2007 Magic Quadrant for Warehouse Management Systems¹ report. Gartner evaluated more than a dozen WMS solution providers in their Magic Quadrant research, which the firm publishes annually.

Q1 2008 Forrester Wave report: Warehouse Management Systems (WMS)

Forrester researched and evaluated Warehouse Management Systems vendors against approximately 50 criteria, which can be clustered into three higher-level groupings: current offering, strategy and market presence. Manhattan Associates WMS solutions achieved a #1 ranking in the "Current Offering" and "Market Presence" categories.

Forrester Research found, "Manhattan Associates established early WMS leadership thanks to their strong core capabilities and strategic road map. [The company] continues to build on its legacy of innovation in the WMS space by constantly raising the bar with new functionality and a broader suite of offerings."

ARC Advisory Group's Warehouse Management Systems Worldwide Outlook, Market Analysis and Forecast Through 2012

ARC Advisory Group produces the annual forecast which follows more than 80 suppliers of WMS solutions and gives a detailed analysis and forecast for the marketplace through 2012. The Manhattan Associates WMS solution achieved a first place ranking in 18 of the 28 ranking criteria.

"Manhattan is over 45 percent larger than the next largest (WMS) supplier, so they are the leader in the majority of the segments that ARC tracks. Part of their success is based on the fact that they are a global, financially stable company with one of the functionally richest solutions in the market," said Steve Banker, Service Director, Supply Chain Management, for ARC Advisory Services.
